

Chris Treadwell

Assistant Deputy Minister of Education and Early Childhood Development (EECD)

As the Assistant Deputy Minister of Education and Early Childhood Development (EECD) for New Brunswick's Anglophone school board, Chris Treadwell has been an educator for 35 years.

For 31 of those years, he has served as principal for several schools, at different levels: Grand-Manan High, Hartland High, Keswick Valley, Park Street Elementary, Miramichi Valley High, North and South Esk High Schools, too.

He has also taught graduate School courses at UNB and is currently an adjunct professor of education at St. Thomas University.

The Canadian Association of Principals named him one of Canada's Outstanding Principals.

He says that when Hartland High School was recognized as one of 20 exemplary high schools in Canada by the Canadian Education Association, and he could not have been more proud.

Prior to becoming an educator, he worked in industry as a foreman in a pulp mill. If you ask Chris, he will tell you, education has the power to provide quality of life for the individual, and to enhance the social and economic fabric of society.
