Vice-President at Talent Innovation, ICTC (Talent Innovation at the Information and Communications Technology Council)

Sandra Saric is Vice-President at Talent Innovation at the Information and Communications Technology Council (ICTC).

At her role at ICTC she leads initiatives that promote diversity, inclusion, and collaboration with industry, government and education on strategies and actions that leverage talent and build education, skills and career pathways for youth, global talent, women, and diverse groups in Canada's digital economy.

In this capacity, in 2015, Sandra received a WCT Leadership Excellence Award for Diversity and frequently speaks on topics that address talent inclusiveness, STEM education and the digital labour market.

At ICTC, Sandra has also been instrumental in launching a new Canadian Cyber Security Youth and Education initiative - CyberTitan - to prepare youth with cyber security skills.
